

On demand e-learning

In a world where business operates at breakneck speed, competition is fierce and knowledge is critical to the success of any venture – you need to ensure that your staff are up-to-date with the latest skills and trends across a wide range of disciplines. Technological change has become the only constant in our work today.

So how do organisations keep the skills of their staff up to date regardless of how the training is delivered?

Despite the 'availability' of e-learning as a medium, many organisations find that obtaining an e-learning solution is still far slower and more expensive than it could be. For example, many major e-learning companies typically still don't let customers buy courses instantly on line, but point enquiries to a sales person.

In contrast, QuicktoLearn provides real on-demand e-learning solutions - at a low cost.

At one end of the scale, single and multiple courses can be bought instantly, from a catalogue of almost 2,000 courses. Want access to some of the best e-learning courses? QuicktoLearn delivers this – and then some. QuicktoLearn is an award winning low-cost pay-as-you-use e-learning solution. There's no special software required – just point your browser and start learning.

At the other end of the scale, for those organisations that wish to have their own Web-based e-learning portal (complete with a library of courses) a dedicated solution can be deployed in less than a week.

You can chose to pay by credit card in multiple currencies or prepaid credit account and learning can be scaled from one person up to the largest organisation. Account facilities and workflow approval of employee registrations are available to allow training manager's to keep track of training budgets.

Customers can be individuals, SMEs, corporate organisations, or even training companies wishing to establish their own on-line e-learning business.

QuicktoLearn is an joint venture between Corporate Learning Systems and Transition Associates, two of IBM Lotus' most experienced e-Learning partners. The outcome is a content consolidation portal with a rich array of online learning from some of the world's best e-learning developers across a range of subjects; from Lotus applications to Finance and Marketing.
